

WHAT WE DO

Hope House provides free self-sufficiency programs to parenting teen moms in three key areas. The Empower Program provides opportunities for personal, educational and economic self-sufficiency for teen moms. The Housing Support Program provides metro-Denver's only Residential Program for teen moms, and additional housing services through various partnerships. The Early Childhood Education Program includes our licensed child care center, providing full-time, quality care for 104 children, as well as our Early Learning & School Age Program, which serves children while their moms are on site in the resource center.

The Problem: Poverty

Over 2,000 babies were born to teen moms in Colorado last year. 67% of parenting teen moms live below the federal poverty line.

In Colorado, a single mom with one child must work over 80.5 hours per week at minimum wage to remain above the federal poverty line.

Less than 2% of teen moms will ever graduate from college, and fewer than half will earn their high school diploma.

The Solution: Empowerment

Economic Self-Sufficiency

We measure economic growth across four domains: Education and Career Development, Financial Health, Housing, and Economic Basics.

A Place to Belong

We design and organize community activities and events to allow our teen moms the opportunity to build friendships.

Personal Self-Sufficiency

We measure personal growth across three domains: Parenting, Emotional Well-being and Social Connections.
