

PROGRAM COSTS

Each time a teen mom becomes self-sufficient, the community saves up to $43,325* annually.

Hope House provides free self-sufficiency programs to parenting teen moms in three key areas.

Empower Program: This program provides opportunities for personal, educational and economic self-sufficiency for teen moms. This includes educational assistance through High School & GED and College & Career Programs. Additional supportive services include healthy relationships and personal growth classes, licensed counseling, legal advocacy and financial literacy.

Housing Support Program: This program provides metro-Denver's only Residential Program for teen moms, and additional housing supports through various partnerships.

Early Childhood Education Program: Through the full-time, licensed early learning center and the Early Learning & School Age Program at the resource center, this program focuses on literacy and social-emotional development; early intervention services; and school-age supports for the children; and provides a Parenting Program for teen moms.
